

Dr. David Tribula and Dr. Nathalie McOmber have both been selected for inclusion in the 2009 “Guide to America’s Top Dentists” by the Consumer’s Research Council of America, an independent research company based in Washington, D.C. This prestigious recognition is quite an honor for both doctors. The selection process is based on a point scale where education, years in practice, affiliations with professional associations and board certifications are awarded points. This is a completely unbiased selection, as no fees, sponsorships, donations, or advertising are accepted from doctors , treatment facilities, or referring organizations.